

STOW & DISTRICT CIVIC SOCIETY

Visit to the THEATRE ROYAL, BATH to see

“The Man in the White Suit”

Starring

Stephen Mangan & Kara Tointon

Adapted & Directed by Sean Foley

Saturday 21st September 2019

We are delighted to have been able to pre-book 30 seats in the stalls for the matinee on Saturday 21 September to see this pre-West End show. This will be a very popular play – the world premiere of the classic Ealing Comedy – and seats are selling out fast so if you are interested in coming please complete and return the application form attached to Caroline Nelson by Friday, 5th July at the latest. As we are able to take advantage of a group discount the cost will be a competitive price of £50 per person including the coach from Stow.

Since Bath is an approx 90 minute run from Stow we have decided to make a day of it. The coach will leave Stow Square at 9.00 am so that we can have free time in Bath before the start of the matinee at 2.30 pm. This will allow time for perhaps a visit to the Roman Baths, the Holburne Museum, a leisurely lunch at one of the many hotels or restaurants, a bit of shopping or just a walk around this attractive city. The coach will drop us off right in the centre of Bath close to the theatre where it will pick us up later after the show. Maps will be provided so that you won't get lost! We will leave Bath immediately after the matinee performance finishes and return to Stow at approx 6.30 pm /7.00 pm.

Theatre Royal, Bath, is a lovely Grade II listed building, built in 1805 and beautifully refurbished in 2010. It has been described by the Theatres Trust as “one of the most important surviving examples of Georgian theatre architecture.”
